Trauma Informed Care in a School-Based Setting

On-Demand at www.scahec.net/schools

Description:

Most children who need mental health services do not receive them. This is often due to a shortage of trained mental health providers, as well as barriers like rural locations. Untreated mental health difficulties can have a significant impact on academic performances, including lower grades, increased absences, increased risk of school dropout, and increased behavior problems in the classroom. In order to address some of the barriers to accessing mental health care, the MUSC school-based telemental health program brings high-quality, evidence-based mental health services to children in school settings. This program will discuss trauma with strategies to support the child experiencing a traumatic event in the school setting.

Learning Outcomes:

At the completion of this session, the participant will be able to:

- Develop a plan for assisting the school-age child, in the school setting, experiencing a traumatic event.
