About the Program

Our residency program is an academic-based program at the Medical University of South Carolina. Our residency is one of the oldest Family Medicine residencies in the country and is based on patient-physician relationships with a strong educational commitment and dedication to investing in the future of family medicine through research and education. Our graduates practice in a variety of settings, including hospital medicine, academics, sports medicine, geriatrics, and outpatient practice.

Charleston,
South Carolina

Key Highlights

- Optional curricular tracks in academic medicine, behavioral medicine, geriatrics, underserved care, hospitalist, sports medicine, and women’s health to allow residents opportunity to customize their training
- Nationally recognized, dedicated faculty who serve as exemplary role models and mentors
- Quarterly resident wellness activities
- Excellent match rates into various specialty fellowships (academics, sports medicine, geriatrics)
- Located in beautiful Charleston, SC where you can enjoy the sandy beaches, shopping on King Street, overindulging at an endless number of restaurants, or spending time outdoors almost year round!
