Program Overview

Join us for the 2013 South Carolina Nursing Excellence Conference – Growing and Sustaining Excellence – at the South Carolina Hospital Association in Columbia, SC.

This year’s conference will explore progress in academic nursing education as it relates to the Institute of Medicine’s report “The Future of Nursing: Leading Change, Advancing Health,” which provides recommendations addressing how nurses can take a leadership role in improving the healthcare system and the delivery of care in the United States. Attendees will also receive an update about the South Carolina “One Voice, One Plan” (SC OVOP) Future of Nursing Action Coalition, which is leading the development of an implementation plan for the IOM’s future of nursing recommendations for South Carolina.

Presentations will be provided by the first place winners of the 2012 South Carolina Nursing Excellence Conference Poster Session. Posters of projects addressing nursing research, evidence-based practice, process/quality improvement and patient safety will be on display. Attendees will also have the opportunity to view the posters and vote on this year’s winners.

During lunch an outstanding South Carolina nursing leader will be recognized. The afternoon session will feature presentations on organizational best practices. Attendees will receive an explanation of HCAHPS Survey performance and value-based purchasing. Attendees will also learn how AnMed Health achieved the coveted Magnet designation from the American Nurses Credentialing Center.

Keynote Speaker

Tina Gerardi, MS, RN, CAE, has over twenty-five years of experience as an association and nurse executive, most recently in New York State. In June 2012 the American Organization of Nurse Executives (AONE) representing the Tri-Council - consisting of AONE, the American Association of Colleges of Nursing, the National League for Nursing and the American Nurses Association— was awarded a grant from the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation (RWJF) to be the National Program Office for the Academic Progression in Nursing (APIN) project. Tina serves as the Deputy Director for the APIN National Program office in Washington, D.C. The APIN initiative supports the Institute of Medicine report “The Future of Nursing: Leading Change, Advancing Health” recommendation to increase the proportion of nurses with a baccalaureate degree to 80 percent by 2020.

Tina received her bachelor of science in nursing from Plattsburgh State University and her master of science in nursing and family nurse practitioner certificate from Binghamton University. She is a certified association executive with the American Society of Association Executives and obtained a certificate in labor studies from the Cornell University School of Industrial and Labor Relations.

Sponsors

This conference is sponsored by the South Carolina Area Health Education Consortium (South Carolina AHEC) and the Conference Planning Committee. Special thanks to the South Carolina Hospital Association for providing use of the conference facilities.

Goals

This conference will provide attendees with information and skills to help them:

- Integrate recommendations from the Institute of Medicine’s report “The Future of Nursing: Leading Change, Advancing Health” into practice
- Discuss evidence-based practice and nursing research conducted by staff nurses and nurse leaders in South Carolina
- Describe “lessons learned” gained from leaders who have helped their organization achieve Magnet recognition
- Provide networking opportunity for nurses across South Carolina to share best practices in a variety of settings.

Continuing Nurse Education Contact Hours

The Center for Nursing Leadership is an approved provider of continuing nursing education by the South Carolina Nurses Association, an accredited approver by the American Nurses Credentialing Center’s Commission on Accreditation.

Upon successful completion of the program, 6.25 hours will be awarded.

Door Prizes

Door prizes are donated by the 2013 Nursing Excellence Conference Partners and Conference Planning Committee. Prizes will be awarded throughout the conference program.
