Learning Outcome:

Participants will recognize which essential classroom elements impact Return-to-School (RTS), Return-to-Learn (RTL), and Return-to-Play (RTP) post-concussion. They will be empowered to provide appropriate health and academic support, specific to school policy, and will become systemic change agents in the concussion public health crisis.

Description:

School nurses will have an opportunity to expand their knowledge of concussion management and how impactful the school nurse is to the management of the concussed student. The participant will also learn about interdisciplinary team concussion management located in the SC REAP Manual.

Speakers:

Dawn MacAdams, MSN, RN, NCSN

Victoria J. Ladd, MSN, RN

Objectives:

- Explain the three R's of concussion management: Return-to-School (RTS), Return-to-Learn (RTL), and Return-to-Play (RP) post-concussion.
- Examine the SC REAP Manual to comprehend concussion management by a coordinated network of providers to ensure the student's successful recovery.
