

Charge Nurse: What You Need to Know

Thursday, May 9, 2024

DESCRIPTION

Staff nurses are being designated as a charge nurse earlier in their career today, frequently without understanding what is expected of them in this role. This class is designed to help these nurses navigate the role of charge nurse and the responsibilities that accompany it. Some of the covered subjects important to the charge nurse role include communication, conflict resolution, patient assignments and delegation, including many more.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this program, the participant should be able to:

1. Recognize the difference between transactional and transformational leadership styles.
2. Discuss charge nurse core competencies.
3. Identify the legal aspects and major responsibilities of being a charge nurse.
4. Identify signs/symptoms of compassion fatigue.
5. Discuss the basics of conflict resolution.

INSTRUCTOR

Wilma Rice, MSN, RN, CEN

Wilma possesses a master's degree in nursing, with a specialty in education. She has been a Certified Emergency Nurse since 1988, and formed her own business, Professional Medical Trainers, LLC, in 2012. She retired from Roper St. Francis Healthcare in March 2023 after more than 40 years. She worked in the Emergency Department for 28 years, serving in various roles, including charge nurse, triage nurse, manager, and Emergency Services Educator before transitioning to Professional Development as an Education Specialist in 2007.

Ms. Rice has received honors and awards, including induction into Sigma Theta Tau in 2006 and the 2014 SC AHEC Educator of the Year. In 2020, she was awarded the Palmetto Gold Nursing Award.

She has been involved with the South Carolina Coalition for the Care of the Seriously Ill (SC CSI) since 2011 and currently serves as Chairperson of the Education Committee and Senior Educator. In this role, Ms. Rice works with several state initiatives surrounding advance care planning, including chairing the workgroup that was instrumental in the passage of the 2019 Physician Orders for Scope of Treatment law.
