

Pee Dee AHEC

SCOLIOSIS: A Comprehensive Review Across the Lifespan

Scoliosis is a complex spinal condition characterized by an atypical curvature of the spine. This foundational section aims to provide a thorough overview of scoliosis, focusing on the different types, their prevalences, and the underlying etiologies. Additionally, we will explore the risks associated with the progression of idiopathic scoliosis and review comprehensive scoliosis screening procedures, which will include a practical lab opportunity.

CREDITS

Physical therapy/Physical therapy Assistants:
AHEC: Any other healthcare professional

Saturday,
November 7, 2026

8:30am - 4:30pm

McLeod Outpatient
Rehabilitation &
Sports Medicine
2439 Willwood Dr.
Florence, SC 29501

Consortium Member: $100

Non-consortium Member: $200

Health Profession
Student: $15

REGISTER
HERE or Scan the QR code

Contact Us

Kimberlymorris@mcleodhealth.org

843-777-5352