

ETHICS IN HEALTHCARE:

THE PRINCIPLES OF MEDICAL ETHICS AND STEPS FOR ETHICAL DECISION MAKING

May 31, 2016 • 9:00-11:00am

Course Description:

This program will provide an overview of the principles of ethics in the healthcare industry. Simply treating patients as you would want to be treated is no longer a standard of ethical care. Healthcare professionals must be aware of the basic principles commonly used in healthcare ethics. Following these principles will help health care professionals take effective steps for sound ethical decision making when faced with the variety of controversial issues that occur in the healthcare industry.

Objectives:

At the completion of this session you should be better able to:

- Identify the four most commonly held ethical principles in the health care industry.
- Explain the four most commonly held ethical principles in the health care industry.
- Recognize the seven effective steps of ethical decision making.
- Identify some of the pitfalls to avoid in the process of making ethical decisions.
